STEP

Unload the firearm: make sure the firearm is unloaded and the chamber is empty. The assembly process can be completed much faster and more easily if the rifle is securely clamped.

STEP

1. Align the mount: place the mounting base on the rifle rail, ensuring it is properly aligned.
2. Secure the base: hand-tighten the four M5 mounting screws to hold the base in place. Do not fully tighten them.
3. Check alignment: use the bubble level built into the scope mount to ensure the base is perfectly aligned with the rifle.

STEP

1. Mount the scope: carefully place the optic onto the mounting base, ensuring it is positioned correctly (the eyepiece facing the shooter).
2. Align the scope: use a bubble level to ensure the reticle is perfectly vertical and horizontal.
3. Secure the scope: evenly tighten the ring screws in a crisscross pattern, following the numbered sequence on the rings, to prevent the scope from shifting. Refer to the torque specifications.
4. Align the rings: use a bubble level to ensure the rings are aligned with the mounting base.

STEP

Tighten the screws: using a torque wrench, tighten all screws to the recommended values specified on the mount.
